

Social Futures partners with Giuntabell and Sage Intacct to transform their accounting and financial reporting systems.

26th February 2021 - Giuntabell is proud to announce its partnership with Social Futures helping transform its accounting and reporting platforms. As experts in accounting and financial management solutions for charities and not-for-profits, Giuntabell has been appointed to identify the best accounting and reporting software solutions that will enable efficient financial transaction and reporting processes as well as a scalable platform for future growth.

For over 40 years Social Futures has delivered positive social change for regional and remote communities of Australia. As a regionally based community provider servicing more than 80% of NSW and areas of South East Queensland, Social Futures delivers expert training, development and advocacy programs tailored for local communities. Working directly with individuals, families, communities, organisations and governments across the state, they focus on the areas of mental health, homelessness and housing, youth and family support services, community inclusivity, and programs that promote genuine participation for people with disabilities.

In recent years Social Futures has achieved extraordinary growth and regional expansion with full time employees increasing from 100 to over 350 and annual turnover now approaching $40m. The organisation identified a need for improved financial software and reporting solutions to better manage the high volume of transactions and additional reporting requirements resulting from increased funding and grants. The limitations of its previous accounting software resulted in numerous issues including inefficient month end processes limited reporting capabilities and an inability to integrate with other systems.

"Software is 'software' and there are many firms able to recommend what they are most comfortable with. With Giuntabell however, there is a real focus on understanding people and establishing productive relationships. This is what allows them to truly connect with our organisation, to thoroughly understand the issues in order to deliver solutions that meet our current requirements and also capable of supporting our future growth." Michael Carter CFO Social Futures.

Giuntabell began by establishing a clearer understanding of business requirements, current pain points and opportunities for improvement. Working closely with CFO Michael Carter and his team, Giuntabell recommended Sage Intacct, a highly intuitive, cloud financial management solution that delivers accounting capabilities for not-for-profit organisations, as well as scale-up and enterprise businesses. Sage Intacct will help Social Futures gain real-time financial insights and automate complex processes whilst integrating with Martus Budget as well as future software additions if required.

Nunzio Giunta, Managing Partner at Giuntabell says "We admire and respect the work that Social Futures has done in our regional communities. The transformation of their accounting and reporting platform will result in significant time and cost savings, and facilitate real time decision-making. Ultimately this will support their plans for further growth and increase the positive impact they deliver in the community"

Giuntabell is proud to partner with charities and not-for-profit organisations. We believe that by enabling best in class financial operations for our clients, we are supporting the positive impact they deliver in our community.
